

Open day in aid of cancer relief

At the beginning of February, the Beds, Herts and Cambs Land Rover Club (BHCLRC) joined forces with off-road accessories supplier All 4 Wheels to run a charity open day in aid of cancer research.

Held at a sand and gravel quarry site, the event aimed to teach people to use their vehicles responsibly, following increasing complaints from landowners about the reckless use of 4x4s in the area.

The event was a big success, raising around £900 for charity and introducing many people to the joys of off-road driving.

More information of the event and the BHCLRC club can be found on the web sites.
