Helping hands

After being contacted by the BCC ROW officer, Richard Hall, who was looking for volunteers to help clear a particularly dense green lane, members of the Beds, Herts & Cambs LRC gave up their weekend to take part in this green lane clearing exercise.

The first job was to close off the access points to the lane to prevent access by users that day, and this was followed by a briefing about what needed clearing and how to do it.

The start of the lane looked deceptively clear, until you turned the corner to see a mass of brambles, elder, blackthorn and general overgrowth. As volunteers set about clearing the lane, Richard supervised, ensuring correct methods were used to prevent damage to the surface. After a long day's hard graft, the group cleared about 250 yards of very dense green lane.

Continue to keep up the good work members of the Beds, Herts & Cambs Land Rover Club – it's brilliant to see clubs actively working to keep green lanes open.
